8.1–2 Sentences and Sentence Fragments

Key Information

A sentence is a group of words that expresses a complete thought. A sentence consists of a subject and a predicate. A group of words that does not have both parts does not express a complete thought and is called a sentence fragment. Every sentence begins with a capital letter and ends with a period, question mark, or exclamation point. A declarative sentence makes a statement. Mexico has many pyramids.	An interrogative sentence asks a question. How old is this pyramid? An exclamatory sentence expresses strong feeling. How steep the sides are! An imperative sentence gives a command or makes a request. Take a photo of this scene.

■ A. Recognizing Sentences and Kinds of Sentences

Decide whether each of these groups of words is a sentence or a sentence fragment. If it is a sentence, write whether it is declarative, interrogative, exclamatory, or imperative. If it is not a complete sentence, write fragment.

- 1. What a long day I had! _____
- 2. Juyong, too. _____
- 3. The full moon is shining between the clouds tonight. _____
- 4. Did you turn off the lights? _____
- 5. Remember to bring an umbrella. _____
- 6. On the third shelf. _____

■ B. Correcting Sentence Fragments

Add words to each sentence fragment to form the kind of sentence indicated in parentheses. Add the correct end punctuation.

- 1. the natives of North America (declarative) _____

- 2. after school today (imperative) _____
- 3. finished your homework (interrogative) _____

- 4. great concert (exclamatory) _____

8.3, 5 Subjects and Predicates

Key Information

All of the words in the subject make up the complete subject. The main word or group of words in the subject is called the simple subject. All of the words in the predicate make up the complete predicate. The main word or group of words in the predicate is called the simple predicate.

The simple subject is usually a noun or a pronoun; the simple predicate is always a verb.

The red car is in the lead.

A compound subject has two or more simple subjects joined by and, or, or nor.

The red car and its driver are in the lead.

When the simple subjects are joined by and, the compound subject is plural and takes the plural form of the verb. When the simple subjects are joined by or or nor, the verb agrees with the nearer subject.

Either the red car or the two blue ones use gasohol.

A compound predicate has two or more verbs with the same subject.

He skids but stays ahead.

The verbs are joined by and, or, nor, but, or yet.

■ A. Recognizing Sentence Parts

Underline each complete subject once and each complete predicate twice. Write each simple subject and simple predicate, or verb.

1. Shama exercises every day. _____
2. Children at the party scrambled for the balloons. _____
3. My brother met his best friend and went to the movie. _____
4. The cactus, the century plant, and sagebrush grow in the desert. _____

■ B. Combining Sentence Parts

Combine each pair of sentences by forming a compound subject or compound predicate. Remember to use the correct form of each verb.

1. Usually, on a picnic, ants sting me. Or a bee stings me. _____

2. The cloth has a high price. But the cloth is just right for your costume. _____

8.4 Identifying the Subject

Key Information
Most sentences begin with the subject. Temperatures fall at night. Many questions begin with a word that is part of the predicate. Do clouds affect temperature? Rearranging the words to form a statement helps to locate the subject. Clouds do affect temperature.	In sentences beginning with Here is , Here are , There is , or There are , the predicate precedes the subject. Here are today's statistics . In commands, the word you is the understood subject. (You) Keep a daily record.

A. Locating the Subject

Underline the complete subject in each of these sentences. If the sentence is a command, write (You) on the line before the sentence.

- _____ 1. Do spiders have six legs or eight legs?
- _____ 2. Listen to the directions.
- _____ 3. The man in the tall hat is a magician.
- _____ 4. Is this apple a Red Delicious?
- _____ 5. In the museum there were many Roman statues.

B. Rewriting Sentences for Variety

Rearrange the words of each of the following sentences as indicated. Write your revised sentence in the space provided. Write a sentence of your own at the end.

- 1. You should imagine my delight at holding a koala. (Use the understood You.) _____
- 2. Your shoes are here under the chair (Begin with Here are.) _____
- 3. You have drawn with charcoal. (Use a question.) _____
- 4. (Write an exclamatory sentence.) _____

8.6 Simple and Compound Sentences

Key Information

A simple sentence has one complete subject and one complete predicate.

Either the dog or the baby bumped the lamp and broke it.

A compound sentence contains two or more simple sentences joined by either a comma and a coordinating conjunction or by a semicolon.

I took the lamp in for repair, but the job cost too much.

A run-on sentence consists of two or more sentences incorrectly joined.

INCORRECT: A new lamp will be cheaper, I'll buy a strong one.

To correct a run-on, write separate sentences, or if the sentences are closely related, join them using a semicolon or a comma and a conjunction.

CORRECT: A new lamp will be cheaper. I'll buy a strong one.

■ A. Recognizing Subjects and Predicates in Compound Sentences

Underline each complete subject once and each complete predicate twice. Circle the coordinating conjunctions and, but, or or when they are used to connect two simple sentences.

1. My cousin moved to Mexico City, and I may visit her soon.
2. We saw the Pyramid of the Sun on the last trip, but my eldest brother missed the tour of the Palace.
3. Jamil and Kendra sometimes ride the ferris wheel, or they choose the scrambler instead.
4. Jamil shoots baskets and tosses rings in the fairway, but Kendra enjoys the exhibits.

■ B. Identifying Simple Sentences, Compound Sentences, and Run-ons

Write whether each sentence is simple, compound, or run-on. If the sentence is a run-on, rewrite it correctly.

1. Milk, broccoli, and kale are good sources of calcium. _____

2. This song is by Carly Simon I like it. _____

3. Ted bakes cookies, chocolate chip cookies are his favorites. _____

4. Raoul is interested in astronomy, and he owns a telescope. _____

9.1–2, 5 Proper, Compound, and Collective Nouns

Key Information

Common nouns name any person, place, thing, or idea. Common nouns can be either concrete or abstract. Concrete nouns name things you can see or touch.

Abstract nouns name ideas or feelings.

Proper nouns name a specific person, place, thing, or idea. They begin with a capital letter.

Compound nouns are made up of two or more words. They can be written as one word, as two or more separate words, or as two or more words joined by hyphens. To write the plural form of compound nouns of two or more words, make the most important word plural.

Collective nouns name a group of individuals. When the collective noun refers to the group as a unit, use a singular verb. When the collective noun refers to the individual members of the group, use a plural verb.

■ A. Identifying Nouns

Underline the nouns in the following sentences. Circle letters that should be capitalized.

1. The garden is filled with tulips and daffodils.
2. These roses were developed in richmond, virginia.
3. The newspaper published an article about our club at superior middle school.
4. On monday, january 6, rene returns from vacation.

■ B. Forming Plurals

Write the plural form of each compound noun.

1. sidewalk _____
2. attorney-at-law _____
3. concert hall _____
4. seaport _____

■ C. Using Collective Nouns

Underline the correct verb form in parentheses.

1. The herd (graze, grazes) in this field every afternoon.
2. The herd (lift, lifts) their heads at the sound of the gunshot.
3. The jury (deliberates, deliberate) in a secluded room.
4. The jury (disagree, disagrees) about the verdict.

9.3-4 Distinguishing Plurals, Possessives, and Contractions

Key Information

Possessive nouns name who or what owns or has something. They can be singular or plural.

The dogs' names are Trooper and Sam.
Traci's dog can do tricks.

To form the possessive of all singular nouns and plural nouns not ending in s, add an apostrophe and s.

sun	sun's
men	men's
boss	boss's

To form the possessive of plural nouns already ending in s, add only an apostrophe.

girls	girls'
--------------	---------------

An apostrophe is also used to indicate where letters have been left out in a contraction. A contraction is a word made by combining two words into one by leaving out one or more letters.

Brad's the fastest runner in the school.
(Brad is)

■ A. Forming Possessives and Contractions

Add apostrophes where needed and indicate whether the word with the apostrophe is a singular possessive noun, a plural possessive noun, or a contraction by writing S, P, or C in the space next to the word.

1. The new flashlights beam is powerful. _____
2. Charles Babbages invention led to the modern computer. _____
3. These trees bark must be stripped before their wood can be made into paper. _____
4. Deannes familys moving to Tennessee. _____
5. This songs words are difficult to understand. _____
6. The girls uniforms were attractive and practical. _____

■ B. Using Possessives and Contractions

Underline the word in parentheses that correctly completes the sentence.

1. This (cartoons, cartoon's) characters are realistic.
2. Our (newspapers', newspaper's) late this morning.
3. Tighten these (guitars', guitar's) strings.
4. (Joans, Joan's) Siamese cat won a prize at the pet show.

9.6 Appositives

Key Information

An appositive is a noun placed next to another noun to identify it or add information about it.

Mrs. Campbell, the principal, read today's announcements.

An appositive phrase is a group of words that includes an appositive and other words that describe the appositive.

Pontiac, the great chief of the Ottawa nation, died in 1769.

An appositive is set off by commas if it is not absolutely necessary to the meaning of the sentence.

A respected architect, I. M. Pei has designed many buildings.
I. M. Pei, a respected architect, designed the building.

■ A. Identifying Appositives

Underline the appositive phrases in the following sentences. Add commas where necessary.

1. The title of the play comes from a work by Langston Hughes an African American poet.
2. An ardent fan of the Bulls Jason rejoiced at their victory.
3. We celebrated at Paul's the finest French restaurant in town.
4. Our teacher asked Kristin the foreign exchange student from Germany to tell us a little about her homeland.
5. The fair will be held on Hester Court a street with many small shops.

■ B. Using Appositives

Write four sentences about yourself or the members of your family. Use an appositive in each.

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

10.2 Transitive and Intransitive Verbs

Key Information

A direct object receives the action of a verb. It answers the question whom? or what? after an action verb.

Garrett Morgan invented the traffic signal.

An action verb may have one, more than one, or no direct object. An action verb that has a direct object is a transitive verb. An action verb that does not have a direct object is an intransitive verb.

■ A. Identifying Transitive and Intransitive Verbs

Underline each action verb in the following sentences. Indicate whether the verb is transitive or intransitive by writing T or I in the space above the word. In those sentences with a transitive verb, circle the direct object.

1. The astronauts collected rocks on the moon.
2. Joan Benoit won the first Olympic women's marathon.
3. Gracefully, the swimmer dived under the water.
4. The musician plucked the strings of the guitar.
5. Heavy rain fell in Florida.
6. The police officer directed traffic through the intersection.
7. Erin hummed the tune happily.
8. President Franklin Roosevelt collected stamps.

■ B. Changing Intransitive Verbs to Transitive Verbs

Rewrite each sentence, adding at least one direct object.

Example: Lamar wove on the antique loom.
Lamar wove cloth on the antique loom.

1. The school choir sang. _____

2. After the rain, the gardener planted. _____

3. Emily studied in the library. _____

Grammar Practice

Name Class Date

10.3 Verbs with Indirect Objects

Key Information

Some sentences have both a direct object and an indirect object. An indirect object tells to whom or for whom an action is done.

The girl gave the cat a toy.

The indirect object always comes before the direct object. You can check that an indirect object is indeed the indirect object by silently adding to or for before the indirect object and changing its position in the sentence. The sentence should still make sense.

The girl gave a toy (to the cat).

■ A. Identifying Direct and Indirect Objects

Each of these sentences has a direct object. Some of them have indirect objects. Fill in the answer columns with the direct and indirect objects you find.

	Direct Object	Indirect Object
1. The store manager promised me a refund.	_____	_____
2. Will you lend me your book?	_____	_____
3. Ask the teacher your question.	_____	_____
4. The bear caught a large salmon.	_____	_____
5. Pick the ripe tomatoes from the garden.	_____	_____
6. The principal awarded Rachel first prize.	_____	_____
7. Lydia threw her teammate the ball.	_____	_____
8. Who left me this note?	_____	_____

■ B. Working with Objects

Write whether the underlined word in each of the following sentences is a direct object or an indirect object. Then rewrite each sentence, replacing the underlined object with a new object.

1. Mr. Chavez drew her a map. _____

2. Paul showed Scotty his pet turtle. _____

3. The mail carrier gave my neighbor the package. _____

4. I sent my mother flowers for her birthday. _____

10.4 Linking Verbs and Predicate Words

Key Information

A linking verb connects the subject of a sentence with a noun or an adjective in the predicate.

Good actors become their characters.

Common linking verbs are be, become, seem, look, smell, turn, sound, grow, remain, and feel. Some linking verbs may also be used as action verbs.

A predicate noun is a noun that follows a linking verb and tells what the subject is.

My best friend is the star of her class play.

A predicate adjective is an adjective that follows a linking verb and describes the subject.

Cast members feel nervous.

A. Recognizing Sentence Patterns

Copy the verb of each sentence. Write whether it is an action verb or a linking verb. If it is a linking verb, write whether it is followed by a predicate noun or a predicate adjective.

1. After the long hike, the Scouts were hungry and tired. _____
2. George Bush was our forty-first president. _____
3. The pink sky at sunset looked beautiful. _____
4. Laura studied architecture. _____
5. The fresh-baked cookies smelled delicious. _____
6. After the rain the river turned muddy. _____
7. The prairie wildflowers were daisies. _____
8. Rafael looked happy about his test score. _____

B. Revising Sentences

Underline the predicate noun or predicate adjective in each sentence. Then rewrite each sentence, replacing the predicate noun or predicate adjective with another word that makes sense in that position.

1. His excuse sounded silly to me. _____
2. The candidate became our new mayor. _____
3. The large audience grew restless. _____
4. Carol and Diane remained friends. _____

10.5 Present, Past, and Future Tenses

Key Information

A verb changes form to show tense and to agree with its subject. The tense of a verb tells when the action takes place.

The present tense names an action that happens regularly. It is also used to express general truths. In the present tense the base form of the verb is used, except when the subject is a singular noun or the pronouns he, she, or it. With those subjects, you add -s or -es to the base form of the verb.

Your roosters crow loudly.

That rooster crows more loudly.

The past tense names an action that has already happened. Many verbs in the past tense end in -d or -ed.

Matt refilled the feeder.

The future tense names an action yet to happen. The word will is used with the verb to express future tense.

Next year, Kay will raise hens.

A. Identifying the Tense of a Verb

Underline the verb in each sentence. In the space provided, write whether the tense of the verb is present, past, or future.

- _____ 1. As usual, Carl will guess the ending of the mystery.
- _____ 2. Karen exercises every day.
- _____ 3. Mary Ann Mantell found one of the first dinosaur bones.
- _____ 4. I am the winner!
- _____ 5. The concert will begin soon.
- _____ 6. Nancy Kerrigan skated at the Winter Olympics in 1992.

B. Making a Present-Tense Verb Agree with Its Subject

Rewrite each sentence, changing the verb from past tense to present tense. Make sure the verb agrees with the subject.

- 1. Taryn walked the dog every day. _____

- 2. Both of Dan's cats liked ice cream. _____

- 3. Your clock ticked so loudly! _____

- 4. Laquetis practiced the trumpet every day after school. _____

10.6 Main Verbs and Helping Verbs

Key Information

Verbs have four principal parts: base form (look), present participle (looking), past form (looked), and past participle (looked).

Any of the principal parts of a verb except the past form may be combined with a helping verb such as be, have, or do. When one or more helping verbs are used with a main verb, a verb phrase is formed.

Forms of be—am, is, and are in the present and was and were in the past—combine with the present participle of the verb.

We are walking now.

We were jogging before.

Forms of have—have and has in the present and had in the past—combine with the past participle of the verb.

You have walked faster often.

■ A. Analyzing Verb Phrases

Underline each verb or verb phrase. If the verb phrase includes a participle, write the participle on the line provided, and indicate whether it is a present or past participle.

1. Scientists have predicted an end to the world's rain forests. _____
2. The leaves are changing very slowly this year. _____
3. That city was the birthplace of the sundae. _____
4. Leslie's monster costume had frightened some of the little children. _____
5. Some time before her solo flight, Earhart had traveled across the Atlantic on another record-setting journey. _____
6. Who is bringing the paper plates? _____
7. Camille has danced to classical, jazz, and folk music. _____
8. We are using percussion instruments in our presentation. _____
9. Tree frogs cling to the bark of trees. _____
10. Are you walking home after school today? _____

■ B. Using Helping Verbs

Underline the correct form of the helping verb in parentheses.

1. For the last four years, Jeff (has, is) played in a softball league.
2. Hundreds of bats (have, are) living in this cave.
3. Juan and Terry (had, were) helping at the shelter.
4. Before the storm, Nancy (had, was) created a sidewalk chalk painting.
5. At the moment, I (have, am) searching for my glasses.

10.7–8 Progressive Forms and Perfect Tenses

Key Information

The present progressive form of a verb names an action or condition that is continuing in the present. Chia is working in her garden The past progressive form names an action or condition that continued for some time in the past. Thurman was fixing his bike.	The present perfect tense of a verb names an action that happened at some time in the past or happened in the past and continues now. Julio has tried many hobbies. The past perfect tense names an action that happened before another action or event in the past. Before he injured his knee, my brother had played in twenty games.
--	---

A. Recognizing Correct Verb Forms

Underline the verb phrase in each sentence and decide whether the form of the verb phrase is correct. If it is, write correct. If not, write the correct form.

- Mrs. Locke is teaching at Madison High last year. _____
- The fruit has staying fresh in the refrigerator for days now. _____
- By sunset, searchers were looked everywhere within two miles. _____
- Many of these animals have disappeared because of habitat destruction. _____

B. Writing Sentences

For each verb listed, write one sentence using a progressive form and one sentence using a perfect tense. After each sentence, write the verb form you used: present progressive, past progressive, present perfect tense, or past perfect tense.

- call _____

- list _____

- ask _____

- talk _____

Name Class Date

10.9–10 Irregular Verbs

Key Information

Irregular verbs do not form the past and past participle in the regular manner—by adding -d or -ed to the base form. Here are examples of irregular verbs:

Base Form	Past	Past Participle
draw	drew	drawn
ride	rode	ridden
tear	tore	torn
come	came	come
blow	blew	blown
choose	chose	chosen
speak	spoke	spoken
win	won	won
catch	caught	caught
know	knew	known
see	saw	seen
fly	flew	flown

A. Using Irregular Verbs

Rewrite each sentence using either the past tense or past participle of the verb in parentheses.

1. Mollie has (win) the spelling trophy again! _____
2. Probably you have (catch) my cold. _____
3. The voters (choose) the underdog. _____
4. Before that foul, the referee had (speak) to Larry twice. _____
5. Those tacks have (tear) all the party decorations. _____
6. Throughout that campaign, General Sheridan (ride) Rienzi. _____
7. Brian (draw) three portraits before last week's contest. _____
8. All the relatives have (come) for a reunion. _____

B. Proofreading

In this paragraph, underline four verb phrases that use incorrect forms. Rewrite the paragraph on a separate sheet of paper using correct verb forms.

Butterflies appear fragile. Everyone has seed them in the breeze. The wind has blowed them around, and they cannot fight it. Yet butterflies of some species have flied thousands of miles to favorite fields. Biologists have knowed about some of these butterfly treks for years.

11.1

Personal Pronouns

Key Information
A pronoun is a word that takes the place of one or more nouns. The most frequently used pronouns are personal pronouns. Personal pronouns refer to people or things. Ben read the story to Sarah. Ben read it to her.	A subject pronoun is used as the subject of a sentence. He often reads stories aloud. An object pronoun is used as the object of a verb or a preposition. Sarah sat beside him.

■ A. Identifying Pronouns

Underline each pronoun in the following sentences. Then indicate whether it is a subject pronoun or an object pronoun by writing S or O above the word.

- 1. I go to the library once every two weeks.
- 2. The librarians know me now and often set aside good books for me.
- 3. We are planning a bus trip to Washington, D.C., in April.
- 4. The bus will pick us up at 6:00 A.M. on Saturday.
- 5. I can buy you a ticket.
- 6. He plays clarinet in the marching band.
- 7. She sits next to him during band practice.
- 8. Officer Howard talked to them and us about the safety program.

■ B. Using Subject and Object Pronouns

Write a paragraph about a group or club activity in which you have participated. Use at least five of these pronouns.

I me you us he they her it

11.2 Pronouns and Antecedents

Key Information

The noun or group of words to which a pronoun refers is called its antecedent. When you write, be sure the antecedent of every pronoun you use is clear.

Denise jogs every day. She always wears running shoes.

Denise is the antecedent of the pronoun she.

Make sure the pronouns you use agree with their antecedents in number and gender. Number refers to singular and plural. Gender refers to masculine, feminine, and neuter.

■ A. Identifying Antecedents

Underline each pronoun, and write the antecedent in the space provided.

1. A new theater opened yesterday. It has six screens. _____
2. Steve's mother is a chemist. She works in an office downtown. _____
3. Alex does odd jobs for the neighbors. They pay him to weed the garden. _____
4. The plane landed unexpectedly. It had developed engine trouble. _____
5. Tony was nervous before the performance. He hoped the judges would like him. _____
6. The cows look peaceful. They are standing in the shade under the trees. _____
7. Shawna was invited to a party. She asked Karen to come along with her. _____
8. The announcer worked with the audience before the show. She urged them to applaud when the star came on the stage. _____

■ B. Using Pronouns Correctly

Add nouns and pronouns to complete the following sentences. Be sure each pronoun agrees with its antecedent in number and gender.

1. June found a _____ on the sidewalk. _____ has a red stone surrounded by pearls.
2. _____ returned the ring to its owner. The grateful owner rewarded _____.
3. We believe that this project is worthwhile, and _____ hope you agree with _____.
4. After _____ stepped on a nail, the doctor gave _____ a tetanus shot.

11.4 Possessive Pronouns

Key Information

A possessive pronoun shows who or what has something. A possessive pronoun may take the place of a possessive noun.

Sonya's notebook is green.

Her notebook is green.

Possessive pronouns have two forms—one for when the pronoun is used before a noun and the other for when the pronoun stands alone.

That uniform is my uniform.

That uniform is mine.

Do not use apostrophes with possessive pronouns. Avoid confusing the possessive pronoun its with it's, the contraction for it is or it has.

■ Using Possessive Pronouns

Rewrite each sentence replacing the underlined words with a possessive pronoun. You may need to add or rearrange words. Notes in parentheses tell you which form of possessive pronoun to use.

1. Walk right into the supermarket. The supermarket's doors open automatically.

(before a noun) _____

2. The skates belong to me. (stands alone) _____

3. The actors are rehearsing the actors' lines. (before a noun) _____

4. The soprano voice I hear must belong to you. (stands alone) _____

5. Luis has been working all week to finish Luis's report. (before a noun) _____

6. The telephone is loud. The telephone's ring woke me up from a sound sleep.

7. We admit that the mistake belongs to us. (stands alone) _____

8. Aunt Jo was very helpful. Taking Aunt Jo's advice, Gary called the bus company for a current schedule. (before a noun) _____

11.5 Indefinite Pronouns

Key Information

An indefinite pronoun does not refer to a particular person, place, or thing.

Everyone is ready.

Most indefinite pronouns are either singular or plural.

Someone wants to talk to you.

Few know all the answers.

The indefinite pronouns all, any, most, none, and some can be singular or plural, depending on the phrase that follows them.

All of the milk is gone.

All of the muffins are gone, too.

When possessive pronouns have indefinite pronouns as their antecedents, the pronouns must agree in number.

Did either of the callers leave his or her number?

■ Using Indefinite Pronouns

Underline each indefinite pronoun. Then underline the word in parentheses that completes each sentence correctly.

1. Somebody in this class (label, labels) (her, their) notebooks with colorful stickers.
2. All of science (is, are) interesting to me.
3. No one (remember, remembers) the address of the doctor's office.
4. The detective carefully studied each of the clues to see if (they, it) might help them crack the case.

14. Most of Greek architecture (is, are) covered in Chapter 1.
15. Both of the speakers referred to (her, their) notes periodically.

11.6–7 Reflexive, Intensive, and Interrogative Pronouns

Key Information

A reflexive pronoun refers to a noun or another pronoun and indicates that the same person or thing is involved. Reflexive pronouns end with -self or -selves.

Gina promised herself a treat.

An intensive pronoun is a pronoun that adds emphasis to a noun or pronoun already named.

The Grinch himself carved the roast beast.

An interrogative pronoun is a pronoun used to introduce an interrogative sentence. The interrogative pronouns who and whom refer to people. Use who as the subject and whom as the object of a verb.

Who sent this invitation?

Whom did you send invitations?

Whose shows that someone possesses something. Don't confuse whose with who's.

■ A. Identifying Reflexive, Intensive, and Interrogative Pronouns

Identify the reflexive, intensive, and interrogative pronouns by underlining them. Write reflexive, intensive, or interrogative on the line.

1. Dan reminded himself to bring home his science book. _____
2. I stopped myself from eating another piece of cake. _____
3. We ourselves congratulated the winning team. _____
4. Who painted the playground equipment? _____
5. They painted the playground equipment themselves. _____

2. (Whose, Who's) project was not successful?
3. (Whom, Who) are you inviting to the banquet?
4. (Whose, Who's) the quarterback on this team?

Name Class Date

12.1-2 Adjectives, Articles, and Proper Adjectives

Key Information

An adjective is a word that modifies, or describes, a noun or a pronoun.

Ripe apples fell from the tree.

A predicate adjective follows a linking verb and modifies the subject of the sentence.

The apples are red and shiny.

The present participle and past participle verb forms are sometimes used as adjectives and as predicate adjectives.

We heard alarming news.

The table is painted.

A and an are indefinite articles, adjectives that refer to one of a general group of people, places, things, or ideas. The is a definite article that identifies specific people, places, things, or ideas.

Proper adjectives are formed from proper nouns. Like proper nouns, they begin with capital letters.

Irish lace

French perfume

■ A. Identifying Adjectives

Underline the adjectives in each sentence. Underline the articles twice. Rewrite proper adjectives in the space provided, adding capital letters where needed.

1. The brown shoes may be old and worn, but they are also comfortable. _____
2. Solemn guards stand outside important foreign buildings. _____
3. When I am cold, I like bavarian cocoa and cookies. _____
4. If I feel warm, I enjoy a tall glass of cool juice. _____
5. Bill plays the electric guitar, but he wants to learn spanish classical guitar. _____
6. A sandy desert can be hot, dry, and silent. _____

■ B. Using Adjectives

Add an adjective to each sentence to replace each blank line.

1. _____ birds circled the _____ harbor.
2. The jungle was alive with the sound of _____ creatures.
3. The _____ guests were dressed in their _____ clothes.
4. The _____ audience applauded the _____ performance.
5. The artworks in the museum were _____ and _____.

12.3–4 Comparative and Superlative Adjectives

Key Information

The comparative form of an adjective compares two things or people. The superlative form of an adjective compares more than two things or people.

For most adjectives of one syllable and some of two syllables, -er and -est are added to make the comparative and superlative forms.

The diamond is harder than the emerald.

The diamond is the hardest gem of all.

To make the comparative and superlative forms of adjectives with two or more syllables, add more or most before the adjective. To make the negative comparative and superlative forms, add less or least before the adjective.

Dogs are more intelligent than hamsters.

The least complicated step is last.

■ Identifying and Using Comparative and Superlative Adjectives

For each sentence, write the adjective form that completes the sentence correctly. Then write whether it is comparative or superlative.

1. My new blanket is (softer, softest) than my old one. _____
2. Kim is the (older, oldest) of my three sisters. _____
3. Sirius is the (brighter, brightest) star in the southern sky. _____
4. Geneva's memory is (worse, worst) than mine, but Barb's is the (worse, worst) one of all.

7. The (more beautiful, most beautiful) time of day at the lake is the morning.

8. Euclid Avenue is (longer, more long) than Prospect Avenue. _____
9. Charisse has little interest in ballet, but Rita is even (less interested, least interested) than Charisse. _____
10. I think that my roses are the (prettiest, more pretty) flowers in my garden.

12.5 Demonstratives

Key Information

The words this, that, these, and those are called demonstratives. They point out people, places, and things. This and these point out people or things near to you. That and those point out things at a distance. This and that are singular; those and these are plural.

Demonstrative adjectives point out something and describe nouns by answering the questions which one? or which ones?

Is this seat taken?

Will you hand me those books?

This, that, these, and those are demonstrative pronouns when they take the place of nouns and point out something.

These are the sweetest cherries I have ever tasted!

■ A. Identifying and Using Demonstratives

Underline the correct word in parentheses. Then in the space provided write whether the word is a demonstrative adjective or demonstrative pronoun. If it is a demonstrative adjective, write the noun it modifies.

1. I'm going to make a centerpiece with (this, these) pinecones. _____
2. How much do (that, those) gloves cost? _____
3. (This, These) is one of my favorite paintings. _____
4. (This, These) are the rules for the game. _____
5. I think an owl lives in (that, those) hollow tree. _____
6. Can the people sitting in (that, those) last row hear me now? _____

■ B. Using Demonstratives

Write a sentence using each of the following demonstratives in the manner indicated.

1. (these as a demonstrative adjective) _____

2. (these as a demonstrative pronoun) _____

3. (this as a demonstrative adjective) _____

4. (that as a demonstrative pronoun) _____

12.6–7 Adverbs and Intensifiers

Key Information

An adverb is a word that describes a verb, an adjective, or another adverb.

The curtains opened slowly.

The scenery was breathtakingly beautiful.

The time passed extremely quickly.

Many adverbs are formed by adding -ly to adjectives.

An adverb that emphasizes or intensifies an adjective or adverb is called an intensifier.

This tune is very familiar.

■ A. Identifying Adverbs and Intensifiers

Underline the adverbs in the following sentences. In the space provided write the word modified and whether that word is a verb, an adjective, or an adverb.

1. Arrange your main ideas logically. _____
2. Jay cleared his throat rather nervously. _____
3. The obviously weary woman sank gratefully into the seat. _____
4. The dandelion seeds flew everywhere. _____
5. Michelle was really tired. _____
6. I am almost certain that I left my notebook in the classroom. _____
7. The already late train should arrive soon. _____
8. The very enthusiastic candidate delivered his speech forcefully. _____

■ B. Using Adverbs

Insert an adverb in the space provided that answers the question given in parentheses.

1. Gerald _____ climbed out of the car. (how or in what manner)
2. I _____ watch that television show, since it's on so late. (when or how often)
3. This road goes _____ until it meets the state highway. (where or in what direction)
4. From his perch the eagle _____ watched the land below. (how or in what manner)

6. The beaver _____ built its dam. (how or in what manner)
7. Patsy _____ attends the symphony's performances. (when or how often)
8. Yolanda _____ reads history but _____ reads poetry. (when or how often)

12.8 Comparative and Superlative Adverbs

Key Information

The comparative form of an adverb compares two actions. The superlative form of an adverb compares more than two actions. For shorter adverbs, the endings -er and -est are added to make the comparative and superlative forms. For longer adverbs, the words more and most are added.

I could not imagine anyone acting more courageously.
Whoever runs fastest will win the race.

The words less and least are used to form the negative comparative and superlative.

Those who approached the problem less creatively missed the solution.

■ A. Identifying Comparative and Superlative Adverbs

Underline the correct adverb form in parentheses. Then write whether the form is comparative or superlative.

1. Craig works on his typing (more, most) enthusiastically than Bernice works.

2. Who can throw the discus (farthest, most far)? _____
3. It is raining (more, most) heavily today than it was yesterday. _____
4. The stock is changing the (more, most) rapidly of all stocks available today. _____
5. That cold medicine works (better, more well) for me than any other medicine I have taken. _____
6. The wood pile is stacked (higher, highest) in October, before winter begins. _____

■ B. Using Comparative and Superlative Adverbs

Rewrite the sentences, changing the comparative adverb to the superlative. Remember to change the sentence in order to use the superlative form correctly.

1. The storm damaged towns on the mainland less severely than those on the island.

2. The sun set more rapidly tonight than last night.

3. Joyce sang louder than Josephine.

4. Felicia performs better in comedies than in dramas.

12.9 Using Adverbs and Adjectives

Key Information

Adjectives and adverbs are easily confused when they are used after verbs. Predicate adjectives follow linking verbs, such as be, seem, appear, and become.

I am good at learning foreign languages.

Adverbs describe action verbs.

I have tried hard to find a book on that subject.

People often confuse the words good, bad, well, and badly. Good and bad are adjectives. Well and badly are adverbs. Well can also be used as an adjective when describing someone's health.

■ A. Distinguishing Between Adjectives and Adverbs

Underline the adjectives once and the adverbs twice in the following sentences. Do not underline articles or possessive pronouns.

1. The audience was impatient for the show to begin.
2. The gerbil scurried tirelessly around his little cage.
3. The fire spread wildly through the dry forest.
4. Our club meets regularly in the basement of the school.

■ B. Using Adjectives and Adverbs

Change the underlined adjective in each sentence to an adverb. Rewrite the sentence as needed in order to use the adverb correctly.

1. Gloria has become expert at completing crossword puzzles. _____

2. Strong winds are common at this time of the year. _____

■ C. Using Adjectives and Adverbs

Change the underlined adverb in each sentence to an adjective. Rewrite the sentence as needed in order to use the adjective correctly.

1. Tomás plays the piano well. _____

2. The wind blew so powerfully that it blew the roof off. _____

12.10 Avoiding Double Negatives

Key Information

Negative words express the idea of “no.” The adverb not is a negative word that often appears in contractions.

Other negative words include never, nobody, none, no one, nothing, nowhere, and hardly.

Nobody turned out the lights.

Affirmative words are words that show the idea of “yes.” They include words such as ever, anybody, one, all, some, any, everyone, and something.

Two negative words used together in the same sentence create a double negative. Avoid using double negatives. To correct sentences using double negatives, remove one of the negative words or replace it with an affirmative word.

■ Using Negative and Affirmative Words

The following sentences all have double negatives. Rewrite each sentence correctly.

1. I didn't hardly have time to eat my lunch today. _____

2. Traci can't find her plaid scarf nowhere. _____

3. Chris hasn't never been stung by a bumblebee. _____

4. I felt as if I couldn't do nothing right today. _____

5. No one I know never heard of that musical group. _____

6. Don't eat no more of those bagels. _____

7. I never did nothing to hurt anyone. _____

8. Nikita hardly never goes anywhere. _____

9. I can't scarcely believe that. _____

10. Kyle didn't do nothing all day. _____

13.1 Prepositions and Prepositional Phrases

Key Information

A preposition is a word that relates a noun or a pronoun to some other word in a sentence.

The bus with a flag is ours.

Refer to page 487 of your textbook for commonly used prepositions.

A prepositional phrase is a group of words that begins with a preposition and ends with a noun or pronoun, which is called the object of the preposition.

The team is going to a meet.

■ A. Identifying Prepositional Phrases and Objects of Prepositions

Write each prepositional phrase, underlining the preposition twice and the object of the preposition once.

1. The rumor spread throughout the school during the morning. _____
2. The parakeet with red-tipped wings escaped from the cage. _____
3. Before the invention of electric lights, people used candles. _____
4. The sled sped down the hill and into the snowman. _____
5. Do you remember the name of the lead singer for that group? _____
6. Jennifer laid the crystal bowl on the counter with great care. _____
7. My book is on the table by my bed. _____
8. With the acorn in its mouth the squirrel ran up the tree. _____
9. What do you think about the quality of television? _____
10. The salad consisted of various fruits. _____
11. The perfume smelled like vanilla. _____
12. The birds flew high above the treetops. _____

■ B. Using Prepositional Phrases

Use each of the given prepositional phrases in a sentence.

1. like a tiger _____
2. up the tree _____
3. near the finish line _____
4. between the houses _____

13.2 Pronouns as Objects of Prepositions

Key Information

When a pronoun is the object of a preposition, always use an object pronoun.

Hit the ball to me.

A preposition may have a compound object. Use an object pronoun for any pronoun in a compound object.

The grounder bounced past the shortstop and him.

To check yourself, say the sentence with only the pronoun following the preposition.

The grounder bounced past him.

■ A. Using the Correct Pronoun after a Preposition

Underline the correct pronoun in parentheses.

1. Does this jacket belong to Gloria or (she, her)?
2. Borrow a bike from (he, him) and come along.
3. Only five of (they, them) were allowed in the elevator.
4. The cake was decorated by Damen and (she, her).
5. The chair between Gale and (he, him) was empty.
6. The package was for (we, us).
7. When did you take that picture of Jason and (we, us)?
8. Mail arrived for Mom and (I, me).

■ B. Proofread for Pronouns after Prepositions

The following paragraph has three errors in the use of pronouns after prepositions. Underline each prepositional phrase with an error and write the corrected prepositional phrases in the space provided.

The photograph of Phong and I reminded me of our camping trip with Ned and his father. The four of us were studying a map of the park when Ned, who was standing between Phong and I, looked up just in time to see a bluejay flying straight towards him. Ned dove behind the tree that stood beside his father and I. Later, we chuckled over the incident.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

13.3 Prepositional Phrases as Adjectives and Adverbs

Key Information

An adjective phrase is a prepositional phrase that modifies, or describes, a noun or pronoun. In the example below, the prepositional phrase describes photo.

The photo of the cat took first place.

An adverb phrase is a prepositional phrase that modifies, or describes, a verb, an adjective, or another adverb.

In the example below, the prepositional phrase of art describes the predicate adjective full.

The wall was full of art.

An adverb phrase that modifies a verb tells when, where, or how an action takes place.

Visitors came to the display.

In the above example to the display modifies the verb came.

■ A. Identifying Adjective and Adverb Phrases

Underline each prepositional phrase and write whether it is an adjective phrase or an adverb phrase. Then write the word the prepositional phrase modifies.

1. Members of the audience cheered loudly. _____
2. Some diners prefer their toast heavy with jam. _____
3. Only seven of the swimmers finished the race. _____
4. The woman at the counter sold Andrea the outfit. _____
5. The artist at the first easel painted with broad strokes. _____
6. He sat in the front row beside Imelda. _____

■ B. Using Adjective and Adverb Phrases

Complete each sentence by finishing the adverb or adjective phrase.

1. My friend ran in the _____.
2. Today, we practiced drawing in _____.
3. The leader of our _____ volunteered to go first.
4. The sourdough bread from _____ was delicious.
5. We told each other stories during _____.

13.4–5 Conjunctions and Interjections

Key Information

A coordinating conjunction is a single word used to connect parts of a sentence.

Colin or Drew weeded and watered, but nobody knew it.

Correlative conjunctions are pairs of words used to connect words and phrases in a sentence.

Neither you nor I could tell.

A compound subject joined by and is plural. The verb of a compound subject joined by or or nor agrees with the nearest part.

Either insects or the soil is the problem.

An interjection is a word or group of words that expresses feeling. A strong interjection is followed by an exclamation mark. A milder interjection is separated from the rest of the sentence by a comma.

Great! It's going to snow tonight.

Well, that's a surprise.

■ A. Identifying Conjunctions and Interjections

Each of these sentences has one or more conjunctions and may have an interjection. Underline each conjunction and state whether it joins a compound subject, a compound predicate, or a compound object of a preposition or whether a compound sentence is formed. Add appropriate punctuation to any interjection.

1. Wow The fireworks and music were a terrific combination. _____
2. Well he ran and told the story to his friends and neighbors. _____
3. Either their troops would pull back, or our forces would attack. _____
4. Hey both the tape and the stapler are missing. _____
5. Whoops I opened the door just a crack, but the dog got out. _____

■ B. Making Compound Subjects and Verbs Agree

Underline the correct verb form in parentheses.

1. Neither Julia nor her neighbors (like, likes) that bush.
2. My parents or Uncle Melvin (is, are) picking me up.
3. Meriwether Lewis and William Clark (was, were) significant in our history.
4. Neither your notes nor your textbook (is, are) allowed in the room.
5. Either Jim or the twins (has, have) been chosen to lead the parade.

14.1 Sentences and Clauses

Key Information

A simple sentence has one complete subject and one complete predicate. The complete subject names whom or what the sentence is about. The complete predicate tells what the subject does or has or what the subject is or is like.

The brown horse runs fast.

A compound sentence is a sentence that contains two or more simple sentences. Each simple sentence is called a main clause.

The brown horse runs fast, but the gray one is faster.

The house on the left is green, and the one across the street is white.

In a compound sentence, a comma precedes the conjunction; a semicolon joins the clauses if there is no conjunction.

■ A. Identifying Simple and Compound Sentences

If a sentence below is simple, write simple sentence. If a sentence is compound, write compound sentence and underline the main clauses.

1. Would you like a hamburger, or would you prefer pizza? _____
2. The air is crisp and clear; it is perfect weather for a football game. _____
3. Carly enjoyed the movie of The Hobbit, but she prefers the book. _____
4. Reggie went into the office, and his father waited outside. _____
5. Lightning triggered the colossal forest fire in northern California. _____

■ B. Punctuating Compound Sentences

Rewrite each sentence, adding the correct punctuation.

1. Dan went to bed but he could not get to sleep. _____

2. Put the milk in the refrigerator or it will spoil. _____

3. Sushil enjoys reading mystery stories are his favorites. _____

4. Unfortunately, the yellow sweater isn't clean he wanted to wear it tonight. _____

14.2 Complex Sentences

Key Information

A main clause has a subject and a predicate and can stand alone.

The book is long, but you will read it fast.

A subordinate clause has a subject and a predicate but does not express a complete thought and cannot stand alone. It is always joined with a main clause.

The book that you took out of the library is long. You will read it fast because it's so good. I like what you chose.

A complex sentence is a sentence with a main clause and one or more subordinate clauses. As the examples show, subordinate clauses can function as adjectives, adverbs, or nouns.

■ A. Identifying Complex Sentences

Label each underlined clause MC (main clause) or SC (subordinate clause) above the clause. Then, in the space provided write whether the sentence is compound or complex.

- _____ 1. The phone rang, but nobody answered it.
- _____ 2. Kelly goes skating whenever she can.
- _____ 3. We sang while June and Tory played guitars.
- _____ 4. The old sea captain told us stories, and we all sang chanties.
- _____ 5. Stay alert to the weather reports, or a storm may surprise you.
- _____ 6. Wherever there is trouble, you will find my little brother.
- _____ 7. Clinton practiced the piano so much that now he plays very well.
- _____ 8. Kim is a dancer who enjoys ballet.

■ B. Subordinate Clauses

Use the given subordinate clauses to create complex sentences of your own.

1. (that I find most interesting) _____

2. (which is my favorite sport) _____

3. (while I went to the library) _____

4. (when we finished dinner) _____

14.3 Adjective Clauses

Key Information

An adjective clause is a subordinate clause that modifies, or describes, a noun or pronoun in the main clause of a complex sentence.

Shaundra has a pet that is quite unusual.

An adjective clause is usually introduced by a relative pronoun, such as that, which, who, whom, or whose. It can also begin with where or when.

Here is the box where Shaundra keeps her pet.

A relative pronoun that begins an adjective clause can be the subject of the clause.

The pet that lives in that box is a cockroach.

■ A. Identifying Adjective Clauses

Underline each adjective clause.

1. Garfield is a cat that likes lasagna.
2. The library books that you borrowed are overdue.
3. Jenna went to a room where she could be alone.
4. Albert Sabin, who invented a polio vaccine, was born in 1906.
5. Franklin memorized a poem that was short.
6. Sara's painting, which is hanging in the classroom now, won first prize.

■ B. Using Adjective Clauses

Complete each of the following sentences. Then underline the adjective clause once and the noun it modifies twice.

1. The car, which had rusted fenders, _____

2. The bird that has the yellow-tipped feathers _____

3. The movie that most intrigued me _____

4. The essay that won the writing contest _____

5. The meal that tastes most delicious to me _____

14.4 Adverb Clauses

Key Information

An adverb clause is a subordinate clause that often modifies, or describes, the verb in the main clause of a complex sentence.

The temperature falls fast when the sun sets.

An adverb clause can answer how, when, where, why, or under what conditions an action happens.

An adverb clause is introduced by a subordinating conjunction. Refer to your textbook, page 507, for a list of some subordinating conjunctions.

A comma is not usually needed before an adverb clause at the end of a sentence. However, use a comma after an adverb clause that introduces a sentence.

Although the air is cold, it is not unpleasant.

A. Recognizing Adverb Clauses

Write whether the underlined clause is a main clause, an adjective clause, or an adverb clause.

1. When the team scored, the crowd cheered. _____
2. If Jason wants a snack, he chooses an apple or an orange. _____
3. Letitia likes a seat that is by a window. _____
4. When the full moon rises, the count changes into a werewolf. _____
5. That inventor, who was once a secretary, became rich. _____

B. Identifying Adverb Clauses

Underline each adverb clause. Then, in the space provided, write the subordinating conjunction and the word that the adverb clause modifies.

1. We continued the game after it had stopped raining. _____
2. Although Anita ran all the way, she missed the bus. _____
3. Polly loves strawberries because they are sweet. _____
4. Carol always moves the camera when she takes pictures. _____

C. Using Adverb Clauses

Add an adverb clause to each simple sentence to create a complex sentence.

1. Dennis plays music. _____
2. Mother stopped at the department store. _____
3. Josh will enter the race. _____
4. Tina checked her luggage. _____

14.5 Noun Clauses

Key Information

A noun clause is a subordinate clause used as a noun.

Whoever is late misses lunch. [subject]

Janet says what she thinks. [direct object]

Give this ticket to whomever you choose. [object of preposition]

The mystery is why we came. [predicate noun]

If you replace a noun clause with a pronoun (such as she, him, or it), the sentence still makes sense.

Some words that introduce noun clauses are however, how, that, what, whatever, when, where, which, whichever, why, who, whom, whoever, whomever, and whose.

■ A. Identifying the Uses of Noun Clauses

Write whether each underlined noun clause is used as a subject, direct object, object of a preposition, or predicate noun.

1. Weekends are when you can relax. _____
2. Wherever I hang my hat is home. _____
3. Give your baseball cards to whoever wants them. _____
4. Marilyn thinks that horseback riding is fun. _____

■ B. Identifying Noun Clauses

Underline each noun clause.

1. Our dog eats whatever we give him.
2. The parking lot is where the car was stolen.
3. That Mylin was a good singer was obvious to everyone in the class.
4. Explain how volcanoes form.

■ C. Using Noun Clauses

Write sentences having a noun clause using the word given.

1. (whatever) _____
2. (how) _____

15.1 Participles and Participial Phrases

Key Information

A present participle is formed by adding -ing to a verb. A past participle is usually formed by adding -d or -ed to a verb. Both can serve either as the main verb in a verb phrase or as an adjective.

Umeki was resting. He has rested on the couch before.

The resting man fell asleep.

The rested man woke full of life.

A participial phrase is a group of words that includes a participle and other words that complete its meaning. Use commas to set off participial phrases that begin a sentence or that give information not essential to the meaning of the sentence.

The boy resting on the couch fell asleep. [phrase needed to identify which boy]

Dale, resting on the couch, fell asleep. [phrase not needed]

■ A. Identifying Participles

Underline each participle and indicate whether it is used as a main verb or adjective. If it is used as an adjective, write the noun or pronoun it modifies.

1. The cornered bear growled angrily. _____
2. Melvin had boarded the first bus from the terminal. _____
3. Lazily we saw the reddened clouds drift over the lake. _____
4. Is a small animal hiding in those leaves? _____
5. The yelling fans urge the team forward. _____
6. The public will see even more recycled sitcoms. _____

■ B. Identifying and Punctuating Participial Phrases

Underline the participial phrase in each sentence. Add commas where needed.

15.3 Infinitives and Infinitive Phrases

Key Information

An infinitive is formed from the word to and the base form of a verb. It is often used as a noun in a sentence.

To fly was a dream for many.

They tried to fly.

The to in an infinitive is not a preposition. A prepositional phrase does not include a verb.

Some were taken to hospitals.

An infinitive phrase is a group of words that includes an infinitive and other words that complete its meaning.

The Wright brothers wanted to invent a flying machine.

■ A. Identifying Infinitives and Infinitive Phrases

In each sentence, find a phrase beginning with to. If to is a preposition, write the prepositional phrase and label it prepositional phrase. If to is part of an infinitive or infinitive phrase, write the infinitive or infinitive phrase and label it infinitive or infinitive phrase.

1. Do you want to wait in the mall? _____

16.1, 5 Making Subjects and Verbs Agree

Key Information

The singular form of a verb is used with a singular noun and with he, she, or it. The plural form of the verb is used with a plural noun and with I, you, we, or they.

A spider catches flies.
Spiders weave webs.

A compound subject consists of two or more simple subjects with the same verb. A compound subject joined by and is plural, except when the two subjects refer to the same person or thing or when they are parts of the same thing.

The fly and the ant are insects.
My job and my hobby is the study of insects.

When two or more subjects are joined by or or nor, the verb agrees with the nearest subject.

Neither these spiders nor this centipede is an insect.

■ A. Identifying the Correct Verb Form

Underline the correct form of the verb in parentheses.

- 1. Both cars and the truck (need, needs) a wash.

16.2 Problems with Locating the Subject

Key Information

If a prepositional phrase comes between a subject and its verb, make sure the verb agrees with the subject and not the object of the preposition. One of these boxes is empty. The boxes on the floor are full. When a sentence begins with here or there, the subject follows the verb. To locate the subject, it may help to rearrange the words	so that the subject and verb are in their usual order. Here is a ball of string. A ball of string is here. In some interrogative sentences, the subject lies between parts of the verb. Find the subject by making the sentence declarative. Does this tape hold well? This tape does hold well.
---	---

■ A. Making Subjects and Verbs Agree

Underline the subject in each sentence and the correct form of the verb in parentheses.

1. (Has, Have) the animals been fed yet?

Write a sentence using the given subject and following the instructions in parentheses. In each sentence use one of the following verbs either as the main verb or as a helping verb: is, are, was, were, has, have.

1. a basket of tomatoes (Begin the sentence with Here.) _____

2. three packages of paper (Make the sentence interrogative.) _____

3. passengers on the boat nearest the dock (Begin with this phrase.) _____

4. a long list of ingredients (Begin the sentence with There.) _____

16.3–4 Special Subjects

Key Information

A collective noun names a group. If the noun refers to the group as a unit, it has a singular meaning and takes a singular verb. If the noun refers to the individual member of the group, it has a plural meaning and takes a plural verb.

The cast puts on a good show.

The cast work well together.

If a subject refers to an amount as a single unit, it is singular. If it refers to a number of individual units, it is plural.

Two hours is enough time.

Two hours have passed.

Certain nouns, like measles and news, end in s but take singular verbs. Others, like scissors and pants, refer to one thing but take plural verbs. You just have to learn these practices.

An indefinite pronoun does not refer to a specific person, place, or thing. When an indefinite pronoun is used as a subject, the verb must agree with it in number.

All of the milk is gone.

All of the students are present.

■ Identifying the Correct Verb Form

Underline the simple subject of each sentence and the correct form of the verb in parentheses.

1. The committee (schedule, schedules) a meeting every month.
